Memorial Day.

Saturday last, May 10th, was Memorial Day, and there went forth from every home loving and patriotic hearts to do honor to the brave dead and scatter sunshine among the living heroes of our lost cause. A special feature of the occasion was the presentation to the old Veterans crosses of honor by the ladies of the Robert E. Lee and Dixic Chapters.

By 10 o'clock, the hour fixed for the beginning of the ceremonies, the Court House Square was filled with hundreds of people full of lofty impulses and anxious to unite in paying respect to the smemory of the dead and to the living men of the Southern Confederacy. Those who love flowers and children grouped on the Court House steps and around and in front of the Confederate monument. In their little hands they carried roses, honeysuckles, lilies, wreathes of evergreen and all the beautiful and fragrant blossoms. Shrubs and trailing vines that are kissed into life by the sun of spring time, and their dainty dresses were in keeping with the brightness and sweetness of their floral offering. These flowers were used to decorate the monument. A wreath of roses were placed about the brow of the matble soldier and one of evergreen hung upon the shoulder. Others were last of the cleavington circuit; from 1887 to 1890 on the Piedmont circuit; from 1896 to on the Leesville circuit; from 1896 to on the Leeville circuit; from 1896 t These flowers were used to decorate the monument. A wreath of roses were placed about the brow of the marble soldier and one of evergreen hung upon the shoulder. Others were laid at the feet, around the base a carpet of roses were strewn and the railing around the monument festooned

Adjourning after the decoration of the monument to the Court room, Gen. M. L. Bonham, master of ceremonies, introduced Rev. Mr. Kelly, who offered a fervent and appropriate prayer. This was followed by music from an orchestra led by Mrs. J. D. Maxwell. Interrupting the program, Mrs. S. Bleckley advanced bearing a solid silver waiter graced with lovely flowers tastefully blended into a most exquisite boquet, and in behalf of the ladies of the R. E. Lee Chapter, presented them to Gen. Bonham as a token of their appreciation of his promptness and willingness in serving whenever called upon. The General's face reflected much surprise but great pleascarred upon. The General's face reflected much surprise but great pleasure, and in accepting and thanking the ladies his appreciation of the honor test of the occasion in which, the

of the lost cause, the home-com-ing of our heart-sick and ragged Southern soldiers, was made to shine with far more luster than the honor and pomp and booming of cannon and acclaim of the people that greeted the victorious armies as they passed in review at Washington.

The bestowal of the Southern crosses of honor came next. The names of the old Veterans were called, and, as they old veterans were called, and, as they advanced to the rostrum, fair hands would pin the crosses of honor on their breasts. These crosses are iron, bronzed, Maltese pattern, small and without jewels or ornamentation. The pin from which it is suspended has a plate for the name of the Veteran, and plate for the name of the Veteran, and the ladies request that each Veteran have his name engraved upon this plate, offering to defray the expense in cases where the Veterans do not feel able to do so. The eagerness with which the Veterans pressed forward as their names were called to secure these badges of hone showed the relief to badges of honor showed the value they placed upon them. The pure hearts and fair hands bestowing these marks of honor and distinction imparted a

With a sweet smile and indicating not the slightest trepidation, Miss Cochran advanced to the rostrum, and in a clear, unfaltering voice spoke as pure and as beautiful sentiments as as pure and as beautiful sentiments as ever fell upon the ears of old Veterans. They were told of their great deeds of valor and the inspiration following which would keep alive for a ges in the hearts of succeeding generations the love of their gallant forefathers and invite them to high and noble deeds. Miss Cochran deserves great credit, and from the complimentary remarks

Col. J. N. Brown made the closing address on behalf of the Veterans, the eulogized the trivate in rank who "smelt powder," and suggested that the many whose reticence kept them from pushing forward and claiming the honors due them, should be hunted up and the crosses of honor bestowed upon them. In closing he directed the thoughts of the Veterans to the fact that their days were numbered, and exhorted them to so live as to be prepared for the great march across the river to join their comrades gone before.

A Brilliant Party.

Belton, S. C., May 12, 1902.

Mr. Editor: The lawn party given by Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Shirley at their pleasant home, near this place, Saturday evening, 18th inst., in honor of Mr. S. M. Jones, of Edgefield, S. C., and Mr. Rice and accomplished sister, Miss Florence, and Miss Beulah Leach, of Hopewell Township, was a brilliant social event. Mr. Dau Jones and Miss May Hunter were on the committee of arrangement, and every effort was made by them to make the event one of much pleasure, and in this they succeeded admirably. Twenty couples acc. pred invitations and were present. The nehts that were displayed on different marts of the lawn made the scene one of great brilliancy. Music was of much pleasure, and in this they succeeded admirably. Twenty couples accepted admirably. Twenty couples accepted invitations and were present. The nights that were displayed on different parts of the lawn made the scene one of preat brilliancy. Music was also furnished on the lawn. These young people made many friends during their brief visit here, and we are anxious for them to come again.

A Guest.

Death of Rev. T. Charlton Ligon.

The Columbia State of yesterday contained the following notice of the death of the above named gentleman, a former citizen of Anderson:

the Lexington circuit; from 1893 to 1895 on the Leesville circuit; from 1896 to 1898 on the Rock Hill circuit and at the Is98 on the Rock Hill circuit and at the city mission; and from 1899 to 1900 at Piedmont station.

During 1909 the Rev. J. M. Pike, who had che ge of the Oliver Gospel mission here and was editor of The Way of Faith, resigned his position and Mr. Ligon was elected to succeed him. This mission is not under the control of the conference and Mr. Ligon could not retain his membership therein. He thought his duty called him to the work and he bravely undertook it. He has accomplished much since he took charge, and in his death the mission suffers a distinct loss. sion suffers a distinct loss.

The above announcement will be read with sorrow throughout this County, for no man was better known or more highly esteemed by our people than Mr. Ligon. Coming to Anderson with his parents in his childhood days, he spent the greater portion of his life here. In 1882 he was elected Judge of Probate for this County, and two years later was re-elected to serve another term. He was a most efficient, accommodating official, and no doubt could have served many more terms in the same office had he so desired. He was truly a good man, and has gone to reap the rewards of a well spent life.

The remains were brought to this city yesterday afternoon and carried to the First Methodist Church, where the funeral services were conducted by Rev. M. L. Carlisle, of Columbia, who came up with the bereaved family. At the conclusion of the services the body was laid to rest in Silver Brook ceme-

A Fatal Affray.

Last Saturday afternoon about 2 o'clock an unfortunate affray happened at the home of R. Jolly Poole, one of placed, upon them. The pure hearts and fair hands bestowing these marks of honor and distinction imparted a luster and brightness to iron that can never be dimmed by silver or gold or precious stone.

When the name of Maj. G. W. Cox, recently deceased, was called a very pretty incident occurred. Under the rules of the Chapters the crosses descend to the oldest representative. In the absence of Judge W. F. Cox, the eldest son, Mr. J. T. Cox, the next son, was called and with a fitting tribute to the dead Veteran the son was presented with the cross by the master of ceremonies. In accepting the gift Mr. Cox made a short but elequent address, which was much admired and appreciated.

Among the old Veterans present was one bearing a tattered flag of the Palmetto Sharpshooters. This was Mr. C. L. Reed, of Company C. and when his name was called, at the suggestion of the master of ceremonies, the flag was waved above him and the statement made that this Veteran had been almost as badly shot to pieces as the flag, his body bearing the scars of no less than ten wounds received in battle. This was greeted by loud and unrestrained applause while the old soldier stood a picture of unaffected modesty.

At this stage of the program Mrs. A. P. Johnstone sang a lovely sole, entiled "Good-bye Sweet Day," It was exquisitely sung and the silence and attention of the audience showed that it was admired by all present.

It was then stated that the ladies had something to say to the Veterans, and Miss Eleanor Cochran, of the Dixic Chapter, an unusually bright and tailented young lady of this city, was introduced. With a sweet smile and indicating not the slightest trepidation, miss Cochran advanced to the rostram, and in a clear, unfaltering voice spoke as pure and as beautiful sentiments as a middicating not the slightest trepidation, miss Cochran advanced to the rostram, and in a clear, unfaltering voice spoke as pure and as beautiful sentiments as the companied by the statement of his firsty duing many playing some very vile, int Anderson County's best citizens, who lives about three miles north of the

The Only Reason You Don't.

A great many people are using "Clifton" Flour row who a ,year or two ago had no idea of doing so. They didn't know the merits of "Clifton" Flour, and, in a way, they were satisfied with what they were getting. It was good enough so long as they didn't know about "Clifton" flour. But it wouldn't be good enough now. They know about "Clifton" now. You don't know about "Clifton" flour. perhaps, and the other kind is good enough for you. But it won't be when you know all about "Clifton." You might as well learn about it now. We want to tell you and to demonstrate all we say. If you investigate and we don't make good, you are not out anything. But if we do make good (and we will) you will have gained something. If you prefer a good family flour, "White Fawn" will satisfy you. It is milled with the same care and not of the same wheat.
